

Men's Senior Team Selection Criteria

Selection for Events:

A player's match play and stroke play record will be taken into account for selection for the below events.

Event	Automatic	Selection Committee Pick
World Amateur Team Championship	Top Irish player on WAGR	2
European Amateur Team Championship	Top Irish player on WAGR	5
Home Internationals	Top 3 Irish players on WAGR & Top 4 players on Bridgestone Order of Merit	4

*In order to gain automatic selection through the World Amateur Golf Ranking for any of the above events (Eisenhower Trophy, European Amateur Team Championship, Home Internationals), a player must have competed in at least three WAGR counting events in the three months prior to the selection date for the relevant event.

*Should a player be unavailable or in the case of the Home Internationals, meet more than one of the automatic selection criteria, the selection will not be transferrable and will instead become a Selection Committee Pick. For example, if one of the top-3 Irish players on WAGR is in the top-4 on the Bridgestone Order of Merit at the time of selection, the automatic pick will not move down to the player placed fifth on the Bridgestone Order of Merit and will instead revert to the Selection Committee.

Injury/illness

Any player that earns automatic selection may also have to prove to the Senior Selection Committee their fitness to compete, should there be a doubt over injury or illness. The process for a player proving their fitness to compete will be determined by the Senior Selection committee.
